NUMBER 5. JANUARY 31, 1913, NORWAY, MAINE. VOLUME XLIV.

Change in Hardware Business.

J. O. Crooker has sold his hardware business and stock in trade to Longley & Butts of this town and Hiram Hoyt of Lewiston. The trade was made Wednesday and a forfeiture deposited. We understand Clarence L. DeCoster, the present clerk, will remain with the new firm for a while at least. Possession given Saturday, Feb. 1st. The new firm lease the store and store houses.

Messrs. Longley & Butts have been in the plumbing business here for some years, the senior member perhaps some 15 years and Mr. Butts four or five years. Mr. Hoyt of Lewiston is an experienced hardware man and has been with George Whitney of that city. He comes well recommended and equipped to successfully carry on the business.

J. O. Crooker has been in the hardware business 49 years the coming May. He succeeding his father-in-law, Thomas Higgins, who was in business here 21 years prior to Mr. Crooker, hence this business has been run 70 years by two owners. This is the longest established hardware business in this county. Mr. Crooker has been in business longer than any other man on the street and we regret the necessity of his retiring but it seemed to him to be the wisest course. Mr. Crooker's health is good considering his 71 years. The recent death of his son-in-law, Mr. Bell of Portland, changed his plans somewhat and probably hastened his retirement from the hardware trade which he has so long and successfully conducted.

A Birthday Anniversary.

On Saturday, Jan. 25, Mrs. Clara A. Hayden observed her 84th birthday anniversary and in honor of the occasion entertained a party of 14 besides many friends who called during afternoon and evening to extend congratulations. Her pleasant home was prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants, while a cheery fire blazed away in the open hearth.

At noon a luscious covered dish dinner was served which proved to be a chicken dinner with all the accompanying delicacies. The guests at dinner besides the hostess, Mrs. C. A. Hayden, were Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hayden of Haverhill, Mass.; Mrs. F. P. Knight and son, Roland, of Manchester, Mass.; Amy Hayden of Lewiston; Dr. F. A. Hayden of Portland; Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hayden and daughter, Madeline, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayden of Norway.

During the afternoon and evening music, both instrumental and vocal, was in order and an unusually pleasant birthday passed. Mrs. Hayden was the recipient of a fine birthday cake, and a sum of money besides many other tokens of esteem from her friends, including postcards and letters.

Mrs. Hayden is very well this winter, and as smart as a lady many years younger, and in speaking of her birthday said, "It didn't seem quite as lively as some birthdays as several of the lively ones were unable to be present on account of illness. I was as lively as any of them and we had an awful good time."

Ladies' Night.

Ladies Night of Oxford Lodge, No. 18, F. & A. M., was held Tuesday evening at Masonic hall. At 7 o'clock a bountiful supper, consisting of mashed potatoes, cold ham, salads, hot rolls, pies, cake, tarts, celery and coffee was served in the dining hall to about 200 guests, which proved the men are capable of setting up an excellent banquet. The supper was in charge of L. I. Gilbert, John F. Swain, Carl Stone and Dr. Harry F. Jones, assisted by the following young ladies as waitresses: Eva Richardson, Hazel Bicknell, Aura Cooke, Irene Locke, Anna Brooks, May Emerson, Mildred Curtis, Winnie McKeen, Pearl Foster, Lillian Hoy, Clara Shepard, Thelma Gerry and Annie Newcomb.

After the supper the guests returned to the lodge room where an excellent entertainment was given. The program consisted of a large variety of selections by the Schubert Male Quartet of Portland, which includes Charles E. Wyer, Howard R. Stevens, Frederic Kennedy and Carl Hascall. The soloists of the evening were Frederic Kennedy and Howard R. Stevens; whose selections were excellently rendered and received hearty applause. Mrs. Florence H. Landers of Portland was the reader. Her selections were of a humorous nature and were finely delivered. Many of the selections were of foreign dialect and Mrs. Landers is an artist in conveying the feelings portrayed in the selections to her audience.

Following the entertainment an informal dance was held and music and readings.

Mrs. Lyman S. Merrill.

Mrs. Mary Whitman (Timberlake) Merrill, wife of Lyman S. Merrill, passed away Saturday night at 10:30, at her late home on Western avenue.

She was the daughter of Henry and Betsy (Adams) Timberlake, and was born at Livermore, March 3, 1861. In 1880, she married Lyman S. Merrill.

Mrs. Merrill has never been in good health, and since Christmas has been failing fast with acute Bright's disease.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Henry J. Merrill of South Paris; Charles E. Merrill, principal of Patten Academy at Patten; and Chester M. Merrill, who is attending a Veterinary college in Washington, D. C., and one brother, Elmer A. Timberlake of North Turner.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, from her late home, at 1:30, and was attended by Rev. T. N. Kewley pastor of Deering Memorial Church, of which Mrs. Merrill was a devoted member.

Men's Supper.

The men's supper at the Congregational Church, Thursday evening, was well patronized. The entertainment following the supper was an old fashioned lyceum, which was presided by W. J. Wheeler. Musical numbers on the program consisted of piano duets by Howard and Eddie Chick of Norway and a baritone solo by Burr F. Jones.

The issue of "The Bud," the lyceums paper, was written in red by Mrs. Agnes Morton and contained a lot of local and personal matter, which caused a large amount of merriment. It brought back memories of the past thirty years, which to the older people may have been nearly forgotten, while to the younger generation it must have been a revelation.

The debate was on the question "That the Old Bachelor is of more value in a community than an Old Maid." Rev. A. T. McWhorter and Walter P. Maxim were on the affirmative, and J. Hastings Bean and Wallace A. Clifford on the negative. The judges were women and reported unanimously in favor of the negative.

At the close of the program was a spelling match, with Walter L. Gray and Mrs. T. S. Barnes, as captains. The women also won on this, while Charles H. Howard the last survivor of the men upheld his side against his mother and three others for some time.

About $35 will be the net receipts for the evening.

Dennison, and a most enjoyable evening spent. Candy pulling was enjoyed and games and music. Louis Plaisted was the star of the yard dash and won all the prizes. Dr. C. Buck, superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School, was the guest of honor.

Harold C. Anderson, who for nearly seven years has been working in W. H. Leland & Co's, engraving shop in Providence, R. I., closed his labors with the company, last Saturday, and Monday came to Boston, where he has a fine position as re-etcher, with G. E. Peters at 145 High Street. At present he is boarding with friends at 547 Mt. Auburn Street, Watertown, and as soon as he can find a suitable rent will move his family.

Not Knowing.

I know not what will befall me;
God hangs a mist o'er my eyes;
And thus, each step of my onward path,
He makes new scenes arise,
And every joy He sends to me
Comes like a glad surprise.

I see not a step before me,
As I tread on another year;
But I've left the past in God's keeping—
The future His mercy shall clear,
And what looks dark in the distance
May brighten as I draw near.

For perhaps the dread future
Is less bitter than I think;
The Lord may sweeten the waters
Before I stoop to drink;
Or, if Marah must be Marah,
He will stand beside the brink.

It may be He keeps waiting
For the coming of my feet,
Some gift of such rare blessedness,
Some joy so strangely set,
That my lips shall only tremble
With the thanks they cannot speak.

O, restful, blissful ignorance!
'Tis blessed not to know;
It keeps me still in those mighty arms
Which will not let me go,
And lulls my weariness to rest
On the bosom which loves me so.

So I go on not knowing—
I would not if I might;
I would rather walk in the dark with God,
Than go alone in the light;
I would rather walk with Him by faith
Than walk alone by sight.

My heart shrinks back from trials
Which the future may disclose,
Yet I never had a sorrow
But what the dear Lord chose;
So I send the coming years back
With the whispered word, "He know."

The Story of a Woman Who Started Big Things.

In the February Woman's Home Companion appears an account of Mrs. Julian Heath and the Housewives' League, which to-day has more than half a million members—all housekeepers who are banded together into a protective organization, the object of which is to teach women to reduce the cost of living by studying more carefully the prices of goods. The following story taken from the article shows how the plan was born:—

"One day, less than two years ago, a New York housekeeper, Mrs. Heath, laid aside the morning paper which she had been reading and started off to market. At the corner grocery where she had traded for a long time she priced eggs. They were fifty cents and sixty cents a dozen.

"'What kind of eggs are they?' asked Mrs. Housekeeper.

"'Fresh eggs,' was the grocer's reply.

"'I mean the fifty cent eggs,' she insisted.

"'Fresh eggs,' repeated the grocer.

"'No; I mean, are they cold-storage eggs or fresh eggs?'

"'I sell nothing but fresh eggs,' answered the grocer evasively.

"Mrs. Housekeeper transfixed him with a stern glance and remarked:

"'When I was in Chicago an expert told me that cold-storage eggs would not be more than thirty-six or thirty-eight cents all winter. Now, are these fifty-cent eggs cold-storage eggs, or are they not?'

"The grocer capitulated.

"'They are cold-storage eggs, and you can have them for thirty-five cents a dozen. You seem to know.'

"'Yes, I do,' answered Mrs. Housekeeper. 'I read the papers! I saw that you grocers were planning a flurry in eggs and then I recalled what the Chicago egg man told me, and I decided that my family could do without eggs until the flurry passed.'

"But her family were not denied eggs, because she seemed to know and got them at the right price.

"The more she thought of the transaction and that little phrase, 'You seem to know,' the more she wondered how many times she had been overcharged because she did not seem to know; then to consider how many of her neighbors were paying exorbitant prices because of their ignorance of market conditions.

"To-day more than half a million homemakers belong to the protective organization which has been built on that phrase of four words: 'You seem to know.'"

Children's Column.

Bethel, Me., Jan. 20, 1913.

Dear Children:—I have a good time sliding on the farm. I have some doves I like my teacher, her name is Mary C. Stanley. She is good to me. I like my kitty, he likes to play ball with me. I have some dolls. There are five scholars. I had some things for Christmas. I had a Bible and beads, and mother had a box of paper and other things. We had a Christmas tree. It is a windy day. I will send one of my recitations.

Cheerfulness.

There is a little maiden,
Who is she? Do you know?
Who always has a welcome,
Wherever she may go.
Her face is like the Maytime;
Her voice is like the bird's;
The sweetest of all music
Is in her pleasant words.
Each spot she makes the brighter,
As if she were the sun;
And she is sought and cherished,
And loved by everyone;
By old folks and by children,
By lofty and by low;
Who is this little maiden?
Does anybody know?
You surely must have met her;
You certainly can guess;
What! Must I introduce her?
Her name is Cheerfulness.

BLANCHE E. KIMBALL.
(Age ten years).

East Andover, Me., Jan. 27, 1913.

Dear Editor and Friends:—I have been reading your letters in the Advertiser for several weeks, and have written one myself. After I had written it I lost courage, but I am glad you did not.

I was very glad to read the piece of poetry by Polly and Pat and hope they will write often. Their verses were well made and were considered excellent by everyone to whom they were shown.

I also think Miss Kimball does very well in writing and I think she started this column. Miss Ina May Brown also deserves much credit for her riddles and her letters are quite interesting although she lives in my town.

She may become a great writer some day. At least I hope one and all of the children who write for the Advertiser to become famous. I hope they will have a Happy New Year and realize they are all growing older and should make every minute count.

My advice, (although I am young, only fourteen years of age) is that the children write for this column, keep on writing, and after a while they may become distinguished as good writers, and there are not many of this sort. I wrote to you once before, as I said, from Bethel, where I was then stopping, and described a trip to Great Bald Mountain. I will now give you a discription of this town.

It is a small village consisting of a dozen houses and two mills, one owned by O. A. Farrington and the other by Perkins and Morgan in company. One of these mills I work in. They turn dowels and my work is mostly bunching dowels. That seems a big job and it is, but it is all trick and an easy trick, at that for it does not require much strength.

In Perkins and Morgan's mill which is just across the river, they saw boards and also turn dowels which they ship.

We have no railroad here, so a large span of horses and a good driver with a sled haulv them to the nearest railroad station and they are shipped to different parts of the United States.

We have a post office and store; also a woman sells remnants. She has a sign over her door, "Remnants for Sale," and it is very conspicuous I tell you.

Well I must close; hoping to hear from you all soon I remain,

Yours sincerely,
(Age 14) BENJAMIN T. HARLOW

Youngsters With Pimples.

By Dr. True

A mother asks me how she shall remove pimples and humors that disfigure her child's face. My answer is very simple and direct, because all such blemishes are the result of poisons in the system that should be carried off in the secretions, but are not.

When anyone finds the skin becoming sallow, dry, scaly, or when blackheads, pimples or blotches appear, they should at once take my Dr. True's Elixir for stomach and bowels. This is a most remarkable remedy. It is wholly vegetable, mild and pleasant, but very effective.

It corrects a wrong condition of stomach and bowels, and sets these important organs in healthy activity, so that waste and poison are driven from the system. No mother need feel anxiety about facial blemishes on her child if she will give my pleasant remedy a chance to remove the cause back of them. And I urge anyone, young or old, who is now enduring this embarrassment, to follow the same course. It will certainly correct the evil.

I recommend, too, that they use Parker's 2-30-2 Cold Cream on face and neck every night. In this way they will make the skin soft and beautiful, as well as free of disfigurement.

Suffered Twenty-One Years--Finally Found Relief.

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,
MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE,
Avoyelles Par. Marksville, La.
Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

YOUR RHEUMATISM

is probably due to uric acid in the system—the blood must be purified—the poisonous acid driven out and general health must be improved.

Thousands testify that Scott's Emulsion rids the system of poisonous acid by enriching the impoverished blood, and its concentrated nourishment is converted into red blood corpuscles which drive out rheumatism.

It is especially valuable to aged people.

Ask for and insist on SCOTT'S.

RICHARDSON'S MARKET

For your MEATS and FISH, also FRESH EGGS and DAIRY BUTTER and CANNED GOODS.

Unexpected Guests.

There are several methods of "stretching" the supply of vegetables when one has unexpected guests, says a writer in the Christian Advocate.

If there is time to cook potatoes, potato nests are a pretty addition to either a luncheon or dinner. First pare the potatoes and cut in pieces of even size, but not too small. When done, drain, dry over the fire till white and mash fine.

Season with salt and a little cream, beat till very light, and then shape into nests on a buttered baking tin. Brush with a beaten egg and brown in the oven. Fill with peas or whatever happens to go well with potatoes. Creamed meats or fish can be served in this way.

Rice is a great help in making things go farther and can be served plain as a vegetable or, by the addition of a can of well-flavored tomato soup, cooked down to make a sauce, the rice becomes a very pretty and rather pretensious dish.

Slices of mush, floured and fried, add materially to a dish of left-over chicken.

A small amount of chicken creamed and served in nests goes farther. Bread boxes are also great helps. One small loaf may be trimmed of crust and the inside removed, leaving a box with sides of about half an inch in thickness. Butter lightly and toast a pretty brown in the oven. Fill with the creamed chicken and serve a piece of toast with each helping of chicken.

Smaller boxes may be prepared for individual servings, with an egg dropped into each box. Make a paste of grated cheese and milk, spread on the top of the box, around the egg, and drop on the egg itself. Return to the oven and cook till the egg is set.

Canned corn beef, if ground fine in the meat chopper, mixed with an equal quantity of mashed potatoes and the stiffly beaten white of an egg, can be formed into balls and fried in deep fat, making a tasty dish and a hearty one.

It is a great convenience to have salad dressings ready to use, and they are easily kept in cool places. For French dressing it is an excellent plan to keep oil and vinegar in a bottle, ready to be shaken at a minute's notice. Use four tablespoonfuls of vinegar and add salt until the vinegar will take no more.

Add six tablespoonfuls of oil and sufficient paprika to color nicely.

Mayonnaise keeps well and is quickly made if the yolk of egg is thoroughly beaten at first and then all seasonings and the acid added, beating again till thick. Oil may then be added by the spoonful, beating thoroughly after each addition.

A delicious salad, that may serve also as a desert, consists of a lettuce foundation, with sliced oranges and bananas and mayonnaise dressing. Another novel salad easily prepared, if you happen to have a few stalks of celery and a bit of cream cheese on hand, is made by filling the celery stalks with a mixture of the cheese, chopped nuts and olive oil. A bit of onion seasoning is also desirable.

Cut the celery stalks into inch lengths and serve on lettuce leaves, with French dressing.

Fruit pulp added to the stiffly beaten white of egg provides a dessert easily prepared and palatable. Lemon juice always developes the flavor of fruit.

An excellent mock shortcake is hot-buttered toast spread with hot apple sauce.

Baking powder biscuit dough made rather rich and spread over the top of a baking dish filled with apples or peaches sweetened or flavored, makes a fine dessert. Serve in the dish or invert on the platter, piling the fruit on top.

The Worthy Secretary announced that a form of petition to the Legislature for a Woman Suffrage amendment to the State Constitution had been received from the Secretary of the State Grange with a request that the same be signed by the members of the grange and returned to Suffrage headquarters in Portland. A large number of those present signed the petition. A lively discussion ensued in which some amusing speculations on the possible conditions that may exist on election days at town meeting were indulged in by facetious members. One brother boldly suggested that women might have to learn to smoke. This brought a number of sisters instantly to their feet, one of whom expressed the general opinion that on the contrary the men would have to forego their objectionable indulgence. Thus was the imagination and resources of wit drawn upon to enliven the discussion.

Streets and Side walks also, Sidetalks.

What a skating park exhibition the streets of Norway presented to the public after the last two rains. A perfect glare of ice from building to building, sidewalks and streets a dead level.

The sidewalks abandoned by pedestrians hoofing it in the streets where the ice is corrugated by the corks of passing horses and littered as well by these benevolent animals, what a saving of sand to the corporation, in fact there seems to be a fearful lack of this grit, so much needed, in more ways than one.

The streets of this town afford the people lots of entertaining talk and no end of suggestions.

The Automan says" You can always tell when you strike Norway by the abominable streets, worse than anything you can find in the state."

A stranger running a touring car last summer and ploughing his way through Main street, or attempting to, with all the power he could turn on, and moving at an oxteam rate, turned his red face toward a lady who was sitting on her stoop and blurted out "Why don't you fix your streets?" The poor woman, not having been appointed street commissioner, was non pleased.

Now when strangers well nigh stalled in mud on the main thoroughfare of our town appeal to widows and maiden ladies to know why they do not attend to making the streets passable, it would seem as if the men folks ought to be shamed into it.

There is one striking peculiarity about our side streets, they seem to be wrong side up, instead of being, convex they are concave, the lowest in the middle, scooped out like a pig trough, so they will hold all the rain that falls for rods on either side of the street.

We have wondered what advantage it is to a town to store up their rains and cultivate slough holes.

We noticed last summer, after a smart shower that on Paris street you could have run an eighteen foot canoe four times her length and then taken her over the carry—about three feet—and putting her on the sidewalk, you could have paddled her back to the place of launching.

Question: When street and sidewalk are flooded what can pedestrians do?

Answer: Wade, swim or canoe it.

Some of our sidewalks should be reversed for their antiquity for they were here at the beginning of creation and have remained in their primitive state.

We are not referring now to upper main street for we notice the earth is covered with brick, whether from the kilns of Egypt, or not, we can not tell, but it is evident they have been there ever since the fathers fell asleep.

They have been lifted by the roots of elms, and depressed by frosts until these walks reminds one of the earth at the beginning when it was "without form and void."

There is not an angle in the mathematical universe that these brick do not represent. If you do not believe it just attempt to walk up one side of the street and down the other, especially when the leaves are on the trees and the street lights burn dimly.

Carefully now, one foot drops down into a cavity where there is a missing, or a sunken brick and you feel the spinal cord snap in the back of your neck, now steady, once more having recovered your equilibrium, bang goes the other foot against the end of a projecting brick and the next step lands you on another lying at an angle with the roof of a barn, and so you "stagger to and fro like a drunken man."

When will Norway mend her ways?

There are few times in life when an untruth is justifiable, but many times when you don't have to tell all you know.

The trouble comes by telling so much you think you know when you really don't know. You soon become just like Sanborn on the Norway sewerage—a crank.

Prosperity is fickle. Depend on yourself, not on prosperity, and advertise in this paper. Every body reads this column and wonders why its editor is not lynched. The fact is this column is not edited—"the copy is sent in" and the editor has nothing to do about it except to keep his mouth closed.

The thought that "no one cares and no one knows" blights many a bud of promise.

If you don't believe it keep right on as you are now doing and stay out after the ringing of the curfew.

If perchance, a copy of this paper should fall into the hands of any who are in search of a new location—a place where church, school and social advantages are given emphasis, and where you can live out your allotted number of years without pestilence or famine, we say, like one of old "Come thou with us and we will do thee good," but don't come in mud time or visit some of our back streets.

The Political Aquarium.

(Being More or Less Fishy).

My dear Mr. Sanborn:—There seems to be an altogether unwarranted tendency among the correspondents of your admirable column to make sport of the way in which our Oxford legislators performed their duty when it came to voting for a U. S. Senator. I fear the mimic of Mr. Lawson does not realize how poorly mere imitators are rated among men or he would leave T. W. L. in uncontested possession of his peculiar literary style.

The comment of "Old Hunter" on the habitis of the Bull Moose in Winter would be really quite funny if the subject were less serious and the reader were able to free his mind from the feeling that his words were inspired by John Barleycorn an Fr. Rye. How about it, "Old Hunter?" Is our surmise correct? Wasn't your "piece" written after all the rest had surrendered in a Saxonian drinking bout in some lonely woods camp and you were left triumphant over your worn-out rivals? I am so sure of it that it seems almost as if I could put my finger on the humorist himself.

But in all seriousness, I have reason to know that in more than one case decision as to Mr. Burleigh was reached only after long deliberation. Conscience was consulted and no other way seemed open for those who had been elected as Republicans on a Republican ticket. These men did the best they could under the circumstances and are entitled to credit for that regardless of the personal opinion of the critics and the jokesmiths. Humor is always cruel and ridicule is so lacking in logic as to be unanswerable. So let us aim our barded shafts at inanimate mudholes and ultra-odiferous meadows, sparing the flesh and blood beings, even though they may be legislating public servants.

LIFE'S STRUGGLE WITH ILLNESS

Mrs. Stewart Tells How She Suffered from 16 to 45 years old—How Finally Cured.

Euphemia, Ohio.—"Because of total ignorance of how to care for myself when verging into womanhood, and from taking cold when going to school, I suffered from a displacement, and each month I had severe pains and nausea which always meant a lay-off from work for two to four days from the time I was 16 years old.

"I went to Kansas to live with my sister and while there a doctor told me of the Pinkham remedies but I did not use them then as my faith in patent medicines was limited. After my sister died I came home to Ohio to live and that has been my home for the last 18 years.

"The Change of Life came when I was 47 years old and about this time I saw my physical condition plainly described in one of your advertisements. Then I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot tell you or any one the relief it gave me in the first three months. It put me right where I need not lay off every month and during the last 18 years I have not paid out two dollars to a doctor, and have been blest with excellent health for a woman of my age and I can thank Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it.

"Since the Change of Life is over I have been a maternity nurse and being wholly self-supporting I cannot over estimate the value of good health. I have now earned a comfortable little home just by sewing and nursing since I was 52 years old. I have recommended the Compound to many with good results, as it is excellent to take before and after childbirth."—Miss EVELYN ADELIA STEWART, Euphemia, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Fair Play.

Gineral C. is a dreffle smart man;
He's ben on all sides that give places or pelf;
But consistency still wuz a part of his plan,—
He's ben true to one party, an' thet is himself.

An "Old Hunter" should remember what Shakespere says about the devil citing Scripture when convenient.

This week's subjects for the politician' class in Bible study: Matthew 16:26, 24:29. Moose special, Matthew 5:13.

We believe the State Trunk line from Poland Springs to the eastern gateway of the White Mountains should be via, Norway, Greenwood and Bethel up the Androscoggin river. No other route can compare with it for scenic beauty and the roads are not bad even to-day outside of a half-mile on Main street in Norway village after a heavy rain, and this will soon be put in good shape.

This route is the sensible layout for the road.

BUCKFIELD.

Thomas S. Bridgham has been appointed trial justice.

Emery DeCoster has been visiting relatives in Lawrence, Mass.

Horace Murch, who has been ill for the past month, is able to be out again.

Charles Withington has been on a business trip through Maine and Massachusetts.

The body of Charles Bicknell was brought here from Hebron Thursday, and placed in the tomb. Mr. Bicknell was 69 years old, and leaves a widow and one son. He was the son of Trestam G. and Polly J. Bicknell. They lived here for some years.

Mrs. Eliza Bryant passed from this life Wednesday morning, Jan. 22nd, Mrs. Bryant was 73 years old, widow of the late James Bryant, a soldier in the Civil War. Since her husband's death Mrs. Bryant has resided at East Buckfield, making her home with her eldest son, John. Mrs. Bryant leaves two sons, John and James, also two sisters, Mrs. Mary Irish of South Hartford and Mrs. James DeCoster of Mechanic Falls. A life long resident of Buckfield, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Shaw, she had a large circle of friends old and young, who prized her as a Christian woman of the finest character and mourn the loss of a true friend and good neighbor.

Arrangements have been made by the Buckfield High school for a second debate with South Paris High school. The question, Resolved that United States senators should be elected by direct vote of the people. Buckfield has the affirmative. The same team will represent Buckfield as last year, viz: John Fogg, Herbert Spaulding, Roger Eastman and Dwight Turner. A secondary team in the school will work up the negative and a preliminary debate will be held at the schoolhouse. The date is not definitely settled, but will probably be Feb. 28th or March 7th. The first debate between the two schools was held last year, Buckfield winning.

Why require special stamps? The parcel post is intended to be a convenience. But the use of special stamps is proving very inconvenient just now.

Shippers will learn better in time.

Nature Study.

To the taxidermist the study of animal life becomes second nature, and the most trivial incidents witnessed often prove of great help in arranging a group or mounting an animal.

A general knowledge of the rules of anatomy is, of course, necessary, and while some peculiar animal from a foreign country might seem to be a problem, we proceed to mount it according to the usual method for that particular species.

The individual and striking feature of the animal can nearly always be accounted for in the skin.

For the Boudoir.

By drinking several glasses of water a day between meals and before retiring you will do as much to beautify your complexion as could the most earnest and conscientious beauty experts.

This has been recommended for softening and smoothing the hands: Fill a basin half full of clean white sand and warm suds made of vegetable oil soap; wash the hands in this in the usual way for five minutes at a time, rubbing them well with the sand; do this every day, and when clean, dry throughly and apply a little cold cream.

This woman was one of the best and no one can tell of the sorrow that comes to those left behind to mourn the loss of such a kind hearted Christian woman. We trust her mantle has fallen upon her daughter, Mrs. Carl Godwin, and her little daughter, who were so kind as to send us some useful Christmas presents unexpected.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Sawin and daughter, Hazel, visited at P. B. Henley's at Lovell, Wednesday. They found Mr. and Mrs. Henley very pleasantly situated in the new home to which they went from here about a year ago. Mr. Henley, in spite of his 73 years, which he carries as lightly as some of a good many less years, and not very robust health has cut with very little assistance and hauled with his black horse, Jack, a long string of good, solid hard wood which he has piled in a neat manner in his dooryard for his own use. Mrs. Henley is assisting him with her own share of the home work with her usual energetic desire for orderly comfort. Mrs. Henley's daughter, Maud Birney, who spent so many hard months last summer in the care of her sister, Mrs. Frank Coffin, at North Waterford, through her long illness, is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Henley, and we are glad to see her getting rested from the long strain which left her nearly tired out, as she was in poor health herself at the time.

FRYEBURG.

Fiftieth Anniversary.

On Monday, Jan. 20, a very pleasant family reunion and dinner party marked the passing of the fiftieth year in the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Whitman Towle.

Mr. Towle is the son of the late Dr. Ira and Sara Clement Towle of Fryeburg.

When a young man he went west to teach, a profession which he followed in his younger days. There he met, and on Jan. 20, 1863, married, Emma Shorb, at the home of the bride's parents, Adam and Maria Shorb, in Canton, Ohio. The bride of seventeen, wore a gown of blue Irish poplin cut as was the custom of the time, with a tight fitting waist onto which the skirt of seven straight breadths were sewed over a cord. The waist as trimmed with bows and the flowing sleeves were worn over under sleeves of white lace. Her hat was of white Leghorn straw, trimmed with black and white plumes and black velvet ribbon with a white edge. Mr. Towle wore a black suit and a garnet velvet waistcoat.

Their trip to Fryeburg constituted their wedding journey which it took a week to accomplish. They came to Meredith, N. H., the nearest railway point, from there by stage to Conway, completing their journey to Fryeburg by carriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Towle have always lived in Fryeburg village with the exception of a few years when they lived on a farm at West Fryeburg. Of their nine children one, Charles Baker, died in 1875, at the age of one year. Ira Whitman died in 1909, leaving a wife and two children. Of the seven remaining children all were present with the exception of Mary Towle Swett of Great Falls, Montana. Ten of their seventeen grandchildren, with Mrs. Harriet Towle Bradley of Chicago and Mrs. Mary Warriner Lord of North Gorham, completed a party of twenty-seven.

Mr. and Mrs. Towle were presented with a sum of gold by their children, also with other gifts from them and from friends, many of whom called to extend congratulations.

Three original poems were contributed for the occasion, one by Mrs. Abbie Towle Warriner, who on account of illness, was unable to be present, another by Mrs. Joshua Bennett of Bridgton, a third written by their daughter, Hattie Towle Jones was "deaconed off" by Mr. Towle and sung by the company, producing much merriment.

Mr. Towle's parents Dr. and Mrs. Ira Towle celebrated their fiftieth anniversary in the early seventies, and thus the Towle family has the distinction of having had the only golden weddings celebrated in Fryeburg within the memory of the present generation.

Mrs. Isadore Perkins has gone to Bryant's Pond, to spend the remainder of the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Perkins Rowe.

While working in the woods on Saturday, F. M. Meserve received a severe blow on the eye from the whiffle-tree of the sled, which flew up as the logs were being pulled out for loading.

On Feb. 14, there will be a St. Valentine's masquerade ball at K. of P. hall. There will be two prizes given, one to the lady and one to the gentleman wearing the most unique costume. Supper will be served.
